Maxwell Reports On Sales

At the annual meeting of Pittsburgh Steel Co. stockholders in Pittsburgh this morning, President Allison R Maxwell, Jr., reported first quarter net income of $2 001,260, equivalent to $1.10 per share of common stock after provisions for preferred dividends.

This compares with $2,469.624, or $1.39 per share, for the same number of common shares recorded in the first quarter of 1956.

First quarter sales of $49,786,939 were slightly below the $49.944.199 reported in the first quarter of 1956. Although first quarter shipments were approximately 10 per cent below those of the first three months of 1956, the fact that the dollar volume of sales was maintained reflects not only increasing prices but improving product mix, Maxwell said.

Demand Is High

Demand for steel products during the first quarter of 1956 was such that Pittsburgh Steel was able to supplement shipments of finished products from steel from its own open hearth by purchasing semi-finished steel from other concerns and processing it into finished products. Market conditions for the first three months of this year, Maxwell stated, did not permit this additional increase in shipping and earnings.

Based on year-end ingot capacity of 1,320,000 annually, first quarter production of 331,787 ingot tons indicated an operating rate of 102 per cent.

Maxwell said:

"We are beginning to feel the first effect of our open hearth modernization and improvement program which, when completed by the end of this year, will add at least 180,000 tons of ingot capacity."

Cites two Factors

Maxwell cited two factors which should enable Pittsburgh Steel to record satisfactory results for the year. One factor is that capacity operations are anticipated for the year. He said although demand for flat rolled products has diminished, total order volume is satisfactory in tubular lines. Demand for wire and wire products which had been lagging somewhat has shown definite improvement, he said

Maxwell stated that although a drop in overall demand for steel is anticipated during the last three-quarters it should be corrected in the last quarter of the year when the demand is expected to be strong.

Maxwell said the second factor is that Pittsburgh Steel will get further benefit in both the basic steel-making unit of its operations and finishing departments as uncompleted phases of its current expansion and improvement program are finished.

Elrama Station Expansion Plans

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Duquesne Light Co announced plans Tuesday for the construction of a 30 million-dollar turbine generator at its Elrama power station near Clairton.

Philip A. Fleger, board chairman, told stockholders at the annual meeting Tuesday that the new generator, largest ever built by the firm, will have a net capability of 172.000 kilowatts and will raise the total capability of Elrama station up to nearly 500.000 kilowatts.

Elrama is four miles above Clairton along the Monongahela River. The huge generator will need additional 138.000 volt transmission lines and transformers and switching facilities at the Woodville and Dravosburg substations.

Wants no Cutback In Vets' Program

GREENSBRG, Pa. (P)—The American Legion favors economy in government but not at the expense of veterans' programs, according to National Commander W. C. Daniel.

Daniel told a testimonial banquet at nearby Manor Monday night the Legion would oppose cuts in veterans' programs so long as the federal government feels able to "spend billions on foreign aid."

Cheering Parisians Greet Queen, Prince

PARIS (UP)—Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip set out in perfect April weather Tuesday for a tour of Paris past royalty-conscious Frenchmen who paid up to $10 each for window vantage points along their route.

The royal couple, accompanied by President Rene Coty, left the Elysee Palace for their second ceremony - filled day that included a meeting with Premier Guy Mollet and his cabinet.

Cheering crowds again filled the street and waved from windows on upper floors where space was being rented Monday at $5 a head. The bidding rose sharply Tuesday morning shortly before the start of the tour.

250,000 In Crowd

Police estimated more than 250.000 cheering Parisians again would choke the Champs Elysees Ave to greet the royal couple on the second day of their three-day visit.

Only Gen. Charles de Gaulle, the head of the Free French movement, drew such crowds when he marched down the avenue in 1944 while German snipers were still hiding out in the sprawling city.

Tuesday's schedule called for the Queen, accompanied by President Coty, to drive through the Rue du Fauborg St. Honore, famed for its revolutionary barricades, past the Place de la Concorde where King Louis XV and Marie Antoinette were guillotined in 1793.

The government arranged a performance in the redecorated Royal Theater — the first such performance since the days of Empress Eugenie — following lunch in Versailles' Hall of Mirrors

Martin Predicts Post Office to Get Ample Funds

WASHINGTON (UP) — House Republican Leader Joseph W Martin Jr. predicted Tuesday that Congress will give the Post Office Department enough extra money to prevent threatened service cutbacks.

Martin made the prediction after a White House conference between President Eisenhower and Republican legislative leaders.

The Post Office Department asked 47 million dollars in additional money to carry it through the rest of the fiscal year ending June 30 A House Appropriations subcommittee voted only 17 million dollars. The full committee okayed the smaller amount but agreed to consider on Friday whether to vote the rest asked by the department.

Postmaster General Arthur E Summerfield meanwhile ordered reduction of service, including elimination of Saturday mail deliveries, to start next week end if the full 47 million dollars is not forthcoming.

Martin said he believes the House will restore "a substantial amount" of the requested appropriation and that curtailment of service will not prove necessary.

Representatives of 450.000 post office employes called at the White House Monday to affirm support of Summerfield in his fight with Congress.

GREENSBURG, Pa (UP) — Judge Richard D. Laird has continued a temporary injunction against an anti-littering ordinance restricting the distribution of handbills and sample newspapers in New Kensington.

The Westmoreland County Court jurist acted Monday on a petition of the Tarentum Valley Daily News which contended the ordinance would prevent expansion of its circulation in the New Kensington area.

Laird heard arguments for more than three hours and then continued the ban he imposed two weeks ago pending further arguments. He set no hearing date but it was likely the case will be heard at the next court of equity session in June.

Speaking to New Kensington City Solicitor Anthony Bonadio and Louis Claster, assistant city solicitor, Judge Laird said:

"You have had enough experience in municipal affairs to know you are away out of all reason on this ordinance. I am telling you right now this ordinance is away out of question. I believe in regulation but not in prohibition."

Neither Bonadio nor Clasier offered any arguments at yesterday's hearing.

The ordinance, adopted by the New Kensington City Council last month, would limit free sample deliveries of newspaper to only four days a month with distribution to be completed by 7 p.m.

Eugene A Simon, publisher of the Tarentum paper, testified his firm spent $28,000 and hired more than 100 persons in anticipation of putting out a New Kensington-Arnold edition with a circulation of 12,000

He said it would be impossible to build up circulation by sampling prospective subscribers only four times a month

Expansion in the New Kensington area would bring the Tarentum paper, which also publishes Kiski and Allegheny Valley editions, in direct competition with the New Kensington Dispatch.

Simon testified he met with New Kensington merchants last Nov. 26 and nearly 40 signed contracts for advertising space in the proposed New Kensington edition.

Southeast Hit By Tornado

By UNITED PRESS

Cool but mostly clear weather overspread the Southeast Tuesday in the wake of a barrage of death-dealing tornadoes, and a snowstorm in the Northeast moved rapidly out to sea.

In Colorado, rescue workers dug through tons of snow in search of a cameraman for Walt Disney Studios who was buried, along with a companion, under a man-made avalanche.

A United Press count showed at least 19 persons killed in the latest flurry of spring weather violence. Four persons were killed in a tornado Monday at Roseboro, N.C., two were killed in a traffic wreck blamed on high winds and blinding rain near Raeford. N.C., Monday night, six persons died in Indiana, three in Illinois, and two each in Colorado and Ohio.

The latest victims brought to at least 70 the number of persons killed in three major storms in as many weeks.

"Tornado Iley"

Monday's outbreak of twisters skipped through Dixie's "Tornado Alley" from northern Mississippi through Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and southeastern North Carolina.

The twisters, touched off by a massive cold air mass, left at least 260 persons injured and some 500 homeless Damages were expected to reach more than one million dollars.

Among the hardest hit sections were Roseboro, N.C., where four persons were killed and about 25 persons injured, and Falkville, Ala., where at least 45 persons were injured.

The avalanche occurred at Berthoud Pass when the Colorado Highway Department fired a 75-millimeter howitzer shot into a sheer mountainside to loosen a dangerous snow accumulation.

Body Still Missing

The snow rumbled down out of control, burying cameraman John Hermann of Salt Lake City, Utah, who was taking shots of the slide, and Wayne S. Whitlock, 20, a truck driver for the Highway Department.

Whitlock's body was recovered Monday night and Hermann's body was dug out of the snow early today.

A snowstorm in the Northeast swept toward the Atlantic after dumping one to four inches of new snow during the night across northeastern Ohio, northern Penn-

Another Big Tax Bill Is on Leader's Desk

HARRISBURG (UP) — The corporate net income tax, Pennsylvania's second largest revenue raiser, reached Gov. George M. Leader's desk Tuesday after the Legislature concentrated on cleaning up tax measures before a pre-Easter recess.

The 6 per cent levy on corporation incomes is calculated by Republicans to raise approximately 330 million dollars in the next two years. The House of Representatives concurred unanimously Monday night in minor Senate amendments to push the measure through to the governor.

However, the House refused to concur in Senate changes to the 1 per cent realty transfer tax when the Republican leadership contended the Senate revisions would "open a loophole" which would enable taxpayers to escape paying the levy under certain conditions The measure probably will go to a conference committee unless the Senate withdraws its amendments

In another move the House by an overwhelming majority of 173-18, passed and sent to the Senate legislation aimed at tightening enforcement and collection procedures on the state sales tax which became law last week

The changes were requested by Gov. Leader and drawn up by the Justice Department. Republicans agreed to make the revisions after a meeting with the governor. When he permitted the tax to become law, the governor said that if the revisions had not been made he would have vetoed the sales tax bill.

Democratic Dissenter

Veteran Democrat Rep. James E. Lovett (Westmoreland) made one last attempt to hold up the sales tax amendments Lovett has charged that the lawmakers are moving too fast on the entire tax program. He asked that action on the amendments be postponed until he could draw up one which would reduce the sales tax to 1

Cancer Crusade Enters New Era, Chairman Says

An official of the Monessen Cancer Crusade pointed out today — on the eve of the 1957 fund campaign — that the research attack on the dread disease has entered "a new era — an age of opportunity."

However, Joseph Friedland, chairman of the merchants, business and professional phase of the city's Cancer Crusade, stressed the need for more funds to continue the research program.

Friedland and his volunteer workers will launch their share of this year's campaign tomorrow in downtown Monessen. The Westmoreland County Chapter of the American Cancer Society is determined to double last year's quota and collect $40.000 to be used in fighting the disease.

"Reports from our national organization show that progress made in research is especially encouraging this year," said Friedland "This means that efforts must be stepped up even more, and consequently, more funds will be needed in this year's Crusade."

Don't Keep Money at Home, Victim Claims

BURGETTSTOWN, Pa. (UP) — Automobile dealer Vincent Yukevich is convinced. Money should be kept in a bank and not at home

Less than a month ago Yukevich, 50, was robbed of $41,000 he had hidden in his garage in this tiny Washington County community 20 miles west of Pittsburgh.

Sunday night three masked bandits broke into the automobile dealer's apartment, bound and beat Yukevich and his wife and ransacked the place for several hours. The intruders left early Monday with $350 in cash, $5 000 in securities and $5 900 in furs and jewelry.

State police Sgt Walter Maram, who aided in the investigation of the robbery, apparently felt Yukevich might be a target for robbers again in the future He told newsmen:

"Tell the thieves there's no use going here anymore. There's no more money on the premises."

Yukevich said one robber covered him with two pistols at times and another held gun at his wife's temple. The third ransacked the five-room apartment above the garage

Yukevich was beaten on the head, chest and arms with a pistol and a crowbar His wife, Vivian, 42, was kicked on the shins.

"They even tried to push the crowbar into my nose," he told state police

"I would miss seven thousand dollars if I had it Thank God I'm still alive"

Both Yukevich and his wife were bedridden at home under a physician's care

The bandits left the apartment at 2:30 a. m. Monday after forcing the bound and gagged couple into a utility room closet.

Michael Lubowski, 28, and Charles Weichel, 41, both of Pittsburgh are in the county jail in Washington awaiting trial in the $41 000 robbery last month A but $800 of the loot in that robbery has been recovered.

Some Relief Is Expected Today; Rivers Are High

By UNITED PRESS

Diminishing winds and favorable temperatures hastened highway snow removal work Tuesday in Northwestern Pennsylvania where up to 14 inches had fallen since Sunday. The threat of possible flooding also eased along the upper Allegheny River.

The heavy fall ended early Tuesday and only light snow changing to snow flurries was forecast for the day.

The fall generally reached depths of 12 to 14 inches in Erie County and northern Crawford County, 8 inches in Warren, Venango and Mercer counties and 5 to 6 inches in Butler County and other regions south of the northwestern section of the state Pittsburgh had snow flurries during the night.

Kane, the "ice box of Pennsylvania," reported 4 8 inches of new snow bringing the fall since Friday night to 18 7 inches. Traffic was snarled and snow plows were en route. The temperature dipped to 25 degrees Monday night.

Elsewhere in Pennsylvania the weather was not unseasonal. Frost was forecast in eastern Pennsylvania Tuesday night.

All main highways were open by early Tuesday but practically all secondary roads in the northwestern snow belt were impassable. Most schools in outlying areas were closed.

The lack of snow fences hampered snow removal crews. Under state law, snow fences must be down by April 1.

But diminishing winds, which earlier had reached velocities of 35 to 40 miles per hour speeded snow removal. Erie County, the worst hit, was able to "borrow" snow removal equipment from Lawrence County and hoped to have secondary roads opened by late Tuesday. Twenty-seven pieces of equipment and about 130 workmen were on the job in the county

Many power failures occurred in Erie County. State police reported their communications were knocked out most of Monday night.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike was mostly snow and ice covered from the Ohio border to the Perry Highway near Gibsonia, north of Pittsburgh.

The Federal - State Flood Forecasting Service said there was no immediate threat of flooding on the Allegheny. The river stage at Oil City at 6 a.m. Tuesday was 14 feet, a drop of 6 inches in 10 hours.

The Point at Pittsburgh, where the Allegheny joins with the Monongahela River to form the Ohio River, was expected to crest at noon today at about 19.5 feet

According to the Webster fire chief, authorities have been alerted to the gang. If the pranks persist, the firemen plan to prosecute the boys and their parents.

Attacks On Ike Increase

WASHINGTON (UP) —Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona scored President Eisenhower's budget Monday in one of the sharpest attacks on the President since his reelection.

Goldwater, former chairman of the GOP Senate Campaign Committee, charged that the President is "subverting" the national economy and accused Eisenhower of breaking his 1952 campaign promises to economize.

"No faithful public servant... would dare subscribe to such a breach of confidence," he said.

Moreover, he slammed Eisenhower's "Modern Republicanism" as a "splinterized concept of Republican philosophy" designed to have a "rather brief tenure."

Goldwater was the latest of a number of Republicans to attack the President's 72 billion dollar budget. Also, there have been other signs among a number of Republicans of disenchantment with the Eisenhower program.

Many Republicans teamed with southern Democrats in the House last week to cut appropriations for the Labor and Health, Education and Welfare departments. And only Monday the two top GOP members of the House Rules Committee — Reps. Leo E. Allen (Ill.) and Clarence J. Brown (Ohio) — joined with southern Democrats to block action in effect on the administration's Civil Rights Bill until next month.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson seized the opportunity of Goldwater's attack on Eisenhower to compare the new budget of "the so-called Great Crusader" with the peacetime high of nine billion dollars under President Roosevelt and 39 billion dollars under President Truman.

Goldwater said both he and the President campaigned in 1952 against big federal spending and promised to cut the budget. For four years, he said, the administration "made valiant efforts toward reducing the budget."

Now, Goldwater said, "This strange and mysterious force seems to have descended upon the Republicans, for something has happened to change the mind of the administration since 1952..."

Carnegie Tech Plan Of Expansion Listed

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Carnegie Institute of Technology has announced a $24,350,000 expansion program to enable it to "continue as a great seat of learning, knowledge, research and creative attainment."

The 10-year program was announced at a "kick off" dinner Monday night at the Duquesne Club attended by 350 executives of business and industry. Among those attending were Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, Benjamin F. Fairless, former board chairman of U. S. Steel Corp., and Gwilym A. Price, chairman and president of Westinghouse Electric Corp.

Fairless and Price were named co-chairmen of the "Carnegie Development Program" to raise funds for the expansion. It will be the first extensive public fund-raising campaign in the school's 57-year history.

Five objectives were listed—increases in faculty salaries, addition of outstanding teachers to the faculty, construction of four new buildings, improvement of existing facilities, extensive campus improvements including parking and recreation.

The new buildings planned are a $1,800,000 library, another $2,000,000 engineering and science building, a $2,000,000 dramatic arts center including a modern theater, and a $2,300,000 campus activities center.

The program provides for expansion of the faculty and increasing of salaries at the rate of $700,000 a year for the next 10 years.

The biggest item on the development budget, $8,250,000, was earmarked for the College of Fine Arts and Margaret Morrison Carnegie College. Campus improvement costs were set at $1,000,000.

The school also announced a campaign, apart from the main expansion program, is planned in the printing industry to raise funds for a new building for the Carnegie School of Printing Management.

per cent and make it cover all types of purchases.

House Republican leaders said they are trying to cooperate with the state Revenue Department which has requested that the sales tax changes be on the governor's desk by the end of this week. Sen. Edward B. Kessler (R-Lancaster) chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said he expected the revisions to be reported to the Senate floor today. If the Senate meets four days this week it can send the bill to the governor, barring delays.

Meanwhile, the GOP-controlled Senate moved to eliminate the Welfare Department's existing program of subsidizing training of graduate students in psychiatry and allied fields.

Would Ban Subsidy

By a straight party vote of 27-18, the Senate passed and sent to the House a bill which would ban the training of psychologists and social workers at state-aided institutions, including Temple University and the universities of Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania.

Currently the department has 54 students who receive subsidies ranging between $42 and $71 weekly while doing graduate work at the institutions. In addition, they do clinical work several days a week at state institutions and in return also sign contracts by which they agree to serve anywhere from two to eight years at state institutions.

Democratic senators charged that the bill is aimed at hamstringing the departments' efforts to staff mental institutions and that it will effectively block advancement of the state's mental health program. The department earmarked a quarter of a million dollars from its appropriations for the program, of which it has spent about half that amount.

Fishing Season At Paradise to Open on May 17

HARRISBURG (UP)—The 1957 season at the famed Fisherman's Paradise on Spring Creek near Bellefonte will open May 17.

The state Fish Commission said the regulations covering fishing will remain unchanged from those in effect last year. The season will extend through July 20, every day except Sunday.

William Voigt, Jr., the commission's executive director, reminded anglers they may take only one trout daily, between 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., or until the claxon is sounded.

All anglers must personally register before fishing, display the fisherman's button while fishing and personally check out and return the button before leaving. All trout in the possession of anglers must be declared by size and species at the registration booth when checking into the project, otherwise they will be considered as having been caught at the stream.

Asks High Court to Reject Lias Appeal

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Justice Department yesterday asked the Supreme Court to reject an appeal by William G. Lias, Wheeling, W. Va., race track owner, who has been assessed tax deficiencies and penalties of about $1 million dollars.

Lias filed his appeal with the high court on Feb. 7. Now that the government has replied, the court will soon determine whether to accept the case for review.

If it does so, it will hear arguments sometime next fall and later hand down a written opinion. If the court rejects the appeal the Aug. 3 1956, judgment of the Fourth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which sustained the deficiency findings, will become final.

The years involved in the case of Lias and his wife were 1942 through 1948. The case was complicated by the fact that Lias received his income from five partnerships and seven corporations. The tax court approved the government's use of a "net worth" computation on a family group basis to determine Lias' net income. Under this method the government determines the taxpayer's income on the basis of his assets at various periods because true figures on his income are not available.

Lias contended that the method cannot be used on a family basis to determine the income of only one member. He also contended that the government's figures were erroneous and that the statute of limitations barred the findings against him for 1942, 1943 and 1944.

The department's brief filed yesterday went into detail on how the figures had been arrived at and gave a short history of Lias' bouts with the law going back to 1923.

The government pointed out that the circuit court had found internal revenue agents to have conducted "an exhaustive and meticulous search" and that the "computation had been established with meticulous detail."

sylvania and much of New York state.

Earlier, the storm "howled" through Indiana, blocking at least 10 state highways with drifting snow. Five of Indiana's weather deaths occurred in traffic crashes blamed on slippery roads.

River levels in the East and Midwest continued to rise after weeks of heavy rain. About 50 families were evacuated in Indiana Monday when the Wabash River climbed nearly 10 feet above flood stage. Two persons in Illinois drowned in flood-swollen waters.

The Alabama River was reported at its highest flood crest in nine years, forcing some 100 persons from their homes.

Fleeing Convicts Are Caught by Police

STROUDSBURG, Pa. (UP) — Three convicts who escaped from the Rockview State Penitentiary at Bellefonte, Pa., were captured Monday night near here 24 hours after their escape.

The three sought shelter in the home of Mrs. Hilda Rundle about five miles west of Stroudsburg when a car which they had stolen became mired in mud on a back road. The convicts went to the Rundle home because one of them, John J. Welty, 27, of Easton, was acquainted with Mrs. Rundle's husband as a hunting partner. The Rundle's have four small children.

The three hung around the house until Mrs. Rundle got suspicious and called her brother, Glenn Pencil, from a neighbor's home across the way. When Pencil got to his sister's home, he recognized Welty as a man who used to hunt regularly in the area.

Pencil lent the convicts a .22 caliber rifle to go hunting, and called police who waited for the three to return. Neither Mrs. Rundle nor her brother knew the three were escapees until they heard a description over the radio after the convicts had gone hunting.

When state troopers learned that a woman and four small children were inside with the convicts, they refrained from charging the house, and instead called for reinforcements to cover every exit.

While police were waiting for reinforcements, Rundle drove up and frightened one of the convicts who fled out a back window into the woods.

Police captured Earl F. Fehr, 25, and William C. Richter, 35, both of Philadelphia, in the house without a struggle.

Welty, who ran into the woods was captured on a back road about a mile away a short time later.

Police said the convicts did not threaten Mrs. Rundle nor her children.

Police had spotted the fugitives earlier in Easton, but the three managed to elude capture then.

The men fled the penitentiary Sunday night by climbing a 10-foot fence as other convicts were watching a moving picture.

Five Fined $10 As Aftermath of White Oak Brawl

MCKEESPORT, Pa. (UP)—Five young men involved in a riot which broke out at a White Oak Borough youth center were fined $10 and costs for violation of a peace ordinance Monday night.

Justice of the Peace Stanley Mains levied the fines at a hearing. Albert Tarkins, 21, forfeited a $25 bond when he failed to appear at the hearing and four others were discharged for lack of evidence.

The battle followed a rock 'n roll session early Monday. Borough Police Chief Harry Crum said the trouble began when one youth tried to run down another in a parking lot near the club on Lincoln Way near McKeesport.

Donald Litzell, 20, Green Oaks Heights, said John Cernigha, 20, Pittsburgh, tried to run him down. They were fined along with Guy R. Solomon, 19, East McKeesport, John Panullo, 20, and Ronald M. Marchesiano, 20, both of Pittsburgh.

Two patrolmen fired about 15 shots into the air in an effort to break up the riot. Firemen finally quelled the fracas with streams of water playing on the participants.

PTA and school officials demanded a thorough investigation of the youth center. Crum said he is preparing a report for Burgess Thomas Field.

Rubber Workers In Agreement; Strike Averted

NEW YORK (UP)—Representatives of the United Rubber Workers Union and the U.S. Rubber Co. reached agreement on a master contract Monday night, averting a strike which had been set for midnight.

Terms of the agreement were not disclosed. Spokesmen said individual plant locals will continue negotiations in local issues. The contract covers some 33,000 workers in 19 plants across the nation.

Present wages were said by a union spokesman to average $1.90 an hour. The union had sought an increase and had also sought additional vacation, holiday and wage incentive benefits.

Plants affected are at Passaic and North Bergen, N.J.; Bristol, Providence and Woonsocket, R.I.; Chicopee Falls, Mass.; Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Mishawaka and Washington, Ind.; Los Angeles; Milan, Tenn.; Eau Claire, Wis.; Detroit; Chicago; Philadelphia, and three plants at Naugatuck, Conn.

Lukens Steel in Big Expansion

COATESVILLE, Pa. (UP) — Lukens Steel Co. disclosed Tuesday it would launch a $33 million expansion program designed to increase its steel output by 25 per cent.

Major facilities included in the program are a new electric furnace, and a new 140 inch breakdown mill to serve the world's largest finishing mill at the plant. The 206 inch finishing mill at Lukens produces the largest steel plates in the world.

President Charles Lukens Husten Jr. said the new facilities will enable the company to meet a growing demand for materials in missile and rocket development, metalworking industries, and shipbuilding.

Centerville Man Files Petition Sanctioned by Seldom Used Process

By a seldom used process permitted by election laws, Mike Packrall, of Centerville, filed a petition Saturday which will permit his name to go on the November ballot as a candidate for Washington County Controller.

Packrall filed nominating papers carrying the names of 1,320 persons as the nominee of the "Non-Partisan" party.

Under the election code the requirement is filing of a minimum of two per cent of the largest vote cast for any countywide office at the last general election. The top vote cast for such a qualifying office in Washington County last November was 53,225 votes for Congressman Thomas E. Morgan.

This total would require a minimum of 1,065 signatures so that Packrall's 1,325, if all are valid signatures, are well over the minimum. This date was the final date for filing this type of paper and there is a one-week period in which the petitions can be challenged for any reason.

Assuming that the petitions are not challenged or that any challenge is not sustained, Packrall's name will go on the November ballot along with the Democratic and Republican nominees for Controller.

In filing the nomination papers, Packrall fulfilled a promise he had made to do so when he withdrew his petitions for nomination not only for Controller, but for Sheriff and Recorder of Deeds two weeks ago.

The Centerville man said at that time that expected support was not forthcoming and that he was withdrawing from the primary race in order to file the nomination papers to get on the November ballot as more or less a third-party candidate.

Part of the requirement for filing these papers is the naming of a committee which would act to replace Packrall as a candidate in case of death or any other contingency.

The committee is composed of William Kovach and Joe W. McCloskey, both of Centerville, and James Shaw, Alvin B. McGrady and John Ciarrocchi, all of East Bethlehem Township.

Supreme Court Deliberates Oil Under the Gulf

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Supreme Court renewed its deliberations Tuesday on a dispute between Louisiana and the federal government over ownership of the multi-million dollar oil resources under the Gulf of Mexico.

A decision is expected before the end of the term, now scheduled for June 3. Attorneys argued the pros and cons for three hours Monday before seven of the nine high court justices.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, a Californian, and Justice Tom C. Clark, a Texan, did not sit. The high court has in the recent past handed down so-called "tidelands" decisions involving both states.

Speaking for the federal government, U.S. Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin urged the court to restrict Louisiana's ownership of undersea oil lands to the nation's traditional three-mile limit. The state is sure of its ownership of this area because Congress in 1953 gave the states clear title out to the three-mile limit.

The question Monday was whether Congress had settled the ownership of submerged lands farther out to sea.

Louisiana attorney general Jack P. F. Gremillion contended his state's boundary extends three leagues or 10.5 miles out. He said this line was clearly established in the enabling act that led to Louisiana's admission to statehood 145 years ago.

Egypt Fears Israel May 'Move' Against Jordan

Another Arab 'Summit' Parley Is Being Held

By UNITED PRESS

Egyptian sources expressed fear Tuesday in Cairo that Israel might launch a "surprise move" against Jordan.

The statement came as Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt accepted an invitation by King Hussein of Jordan to attend another Arab "summit" meeting to deal with the new threat.

There was no reply yet from Syrian President Shukri El-Kuwatly nor from Saudi Arabian King Saud who met with the Jordanian and Egyptian leaders in Cairo soon after Saud returned from Washington early this year.

Egypt has placed its troops on a full military alert, cancelled some army leaves and called a series of air raid drills in principal cities. Unconfirmed reports in Cairo said the nation may soon call up its reservists.

Arab quarters in Cairo said the stationing of the United Nations Emergency Force along the Israeli-Egyptian border would neutralize the Egyptian forces and permit Israel to "seek adventure elsewhere."

Recent reports have said Saudi Arabian troops were preparing to move into the Jordanian port of Aqaba which is less than five miles from the Israeli port of Eilat at the top of the Gulf of Aqaba.

In addition, Saudi Arabia has joined the other Arab nations in declaring the Gulf of Aqaba Arab territorial waters which would not be open to Israeli shipping.

The concern in Egypt appeared to reflect fears the Israelis might move to secure their shipping rights in the gulf.

The Suez Canal meanwhile was opened Tuesday to major shipping, and a United Press dispatch from Port Said said two big tankers flying the flags of Belgium and Italy led a six-ship convoy into the canal this morning.

The canal was opened when U.N. salvage vessels dumped the last obstruction in the canal—the Egyptian frigate Abukir—into the Great Bitter Lake.

Asks President To File Protest Of 'Barbarism'

WASHINGTON (UP)— Rep. Albert P. Morano (R-Conn.) asked President Eisenhower Tuesday to make "the most strenuous protest" against the "barbarism" of the Communist puppet regime in Hungary.

In a letter to the President, Morano denounced the "show" trial in which a Hungarian court Monday sentenced three Hungarian "freedom fighters" to death.

"The news, although shocking, is nothing more than can be expected of the blood-stained puppets of Soviet aggression who now hold the freedom - loving people of Hungary in their iron grip," he said.

Morano, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, urged Eisenhower to protest the court action through the United Nations and by direct diplomatic channels.

Sen. Joseph R McCarthy (R-Wis.), meanwhile, said he is preparing legislation to permit 75,000 more Hungarian refugees to enter the United States.

McCarthy said in a statement that ending the refugee program would "destroy the last hope of the peoples under Communist dictatorships that they can look to the United States as the stronghold of freedom."

UAW Dues Increase Is Coming Up Today

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP) — The United Auto Workers Union tackles Tuesday the question of a dues increase for its 1,500,000 members. Some opposition to the proposed increase was reported.

President George Meany of the AFL-CIO was to address the morning session of the union's 16th constitutional convention.

The convention Monday adopted UAW President Walter Reuther's proposal for a public review board to help police the union against racketeering.

The seven-man public review board, with six members accepted by the convention and the seventh to be named from a list offered by those accepted, became a fact when the convention approved a constitutional amendment overwhelmingly.

'Not Window Dressing'

The board, which Reuther said "was not window dressing," will be a watchdog in the framework of the union, with the right of decision on matters regarding violations of the ethics code of the union and the AFL-CIO.

It can make binding decisions on complaints, and can make public its findings. It was described by Reuther as a board "with broad powers and responsibilities."

Dr. Milton Eisenhower, brother of President Eisenhower, was the only member of the original seven chosen who was unable to accept Dr. Eisenhower declined with regret because of a "myraid of duties" including those as president of Johns Hopkins University, two government assignments and several active directorships.

Seventh Member Sought

The six members who accepted will prepare a list of names and submit them to the union's Executive Board to make a choice of the remaining member. Reuther said the union was looking toward Canada for the seventh member.

The prominent citizens who agreed to serve on the union's new review board were:

Rabbi Morris Adler, of Detroit; Dr. Clark Kerr, chancellor of the University of California; Dr. Edwin Witte of the University of Wisconsin; Judge Wade H. McCree of the Detroit Circuit Court; the Very Rev. Msgr. George G. Higgins of the Roman Catholic Welfare Conference of Washington, D. C., and Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, of Washington, D. C., former president of the World Council of Churches.

There was only mild opposition to the formation of the board. Four among the 3,200 delegates spoke against it, and the motion was carried by what Reuther said was 7 per cent of the delegates.

The union unanimously adopted its ethics code, a 16 point program which covered racketeering and corruption, before it tackled the review board.

Britain's Budget Is Submitted To Parliament

LONDON (UP)—Chancellor of the Exchequer Peter Thorneycroft presents Britain's first post-Suez budget to Parliament Tuesday. The Labor opposition planned to challenge it by calling for an immediate vote of confidence.

The budget is expected to grant some tax relief to the upper middle class and to promise more tax cuts in the next five years.

Details of the budget were a closely guarded secret known only to Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's cabinet, Queen Elizabeth II and a few trusted officials and typists. Informed sources said Laborites anticipated an easing of surtax regulations and would make a nimmediate attack on the budget.

All Socialist members of Parliament were warned by their party leaders to be on hand for the budget speech and the following debate. Party leader Hugh Gaitskell is scheduled to speak during the debate and informed sources said he might call for a snap vote in defiance of parliamentary tradition.

The opposition usually does not force a vote on the budget as soon as it is presented.

There was little chance the Laborites would win if they forced a test today. Macmillan's government, despite recent reverses in bye-elections, still has a comfortable 5-vote majority.

New Agency to Regulate Power Is Proposed

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Legislature Tuesday considered legislation for creation of a new state agency to regulate and distribute any electric power which might be available to Pennsylvania from power projects on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

A bipartisan bill introduced Monday would create the Pennsylvania Power Authority, headed by a non-partisan board of five directors appointed by the governor, financed by bond issues, and with the independent status of similar agencies such as the Delaware River Port Authority and the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission.

The new agency would be authorized to:

—Study the availability of electric energy, including atomic sources, and take steps to see that transmission facilities are available to public and private consumers.

—Contract with agencies of the federal government, Canada, and other states for the acquisition of power.

—Construct transmission facilities for the distribution of power throughout the Commonwealth.

Wants Parochial Students to Ride On Public Buses

HARRISBURG (UP) — Rep William F. Renwick (D-Elk) sought support of the House Republican majority Tuesday for legislation to allow parochial students to ride on public school buses.

Renwick introduced two House bills Monday to amend the state public school code. One measure specifies public schools should furnish transportation for pupils of "other than public schools" without hampering Commonwealth subsidies. The second bill would allow the private or parochial schools to pay any transportation costs involved.

Renwick said he planned to "enlist" bipartisan support to aid the legislation through the Assembly. Similar bills were introduced in previous Legislatures but died in committee.

A third bill to take in third and fourth class school districts was scrapped by Renwick.

"I decided it was not needed," he said. "The two bills would authorize the local school directors to make decisions to allow parochial students on their buses."

The legislation was prompted by a situation in Renwick's home town of St. Marys, where the school directors ruled parochial pupils would have to pay for riding on the school buses.

Renwick said parents of the pupils organized a car pool rather than pay fares in a community where 85 per cent of the children are Roman Catholic.

Egg Rolling at The White House

WASHINGTON (UP)—The traditional Easter egg rolling on the White House south lawn will be held this year on Easter Monday, April 22.

Chances are that Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower will not be present because the Chief Executive plans to go to Augusta, Ga., about April 18.

As in past years attendance at the Easter egg rolling will be limited to children under 12 years of age and adults accompanied by children.

Safety Guards Must Be Used on Airboats

HARRISBURG (UP)—Owners of airboats must install safety guards on the aircraft-type propellers of the high speed, shallow-draft boats before they may be operated on state waterways.

The state Fish Commission adopted the regulations late Monday following hearings held in March and attended by manufacturers, dealers and owners of the controversial boats. The agency said Pennsylvania was the first state to adopt safety regulations governing the craft.

The commission specified that at least 50 per cent of the propeller from the bottom upward must be enclosed by two parallel curved metal rods at least one-half inch in diameter. The rods must be fastened to the boat rather than to the power unit and located so that the propeller turns within the enclosure formed by the guard rails.

The regulations require similar metal crossbars to be installed at intervals of no more than 30 degrees along the 180 degree arc. It will take at least six such crossbars attached to the curved parallel housing frame to form a safety screen.

In cases where the propeller is located forward of the engine, the entire blade must be enclosed in such a specified safety housing. Additionally, the forward side must have stout wire sections placed so that there is no opening larger than three inches vertically or horizontally.

Another safety arrangement would have rods extending around the outside edge of the propeller so that a person falling backward would be thrown away from the blade.

The commission halted use of all airboats without propeller guards last spring when fish wardens noted the lack of safety guards. The agency passed a resolution calling for adequate safeguards on the propellers but failed to specify what form of shield was required.

The boats, which draw as little as one inch of water when cruising at 15 miles per hour, are particularly adapted to use in shallow, rock-strewn rivers such as the Susquehanna and Monongahela.

Move to Help Teacher Shortage

HARRISBURG (UP)—Two Republican legislators have suggested the state help meet the current teacher shortage by eliminating all graduate training programs at state teachers' colleges.

A measure introduced in the General Assembly Monday by Sens. Edward J. Kessler (Lancaster) and Henry J. Propert (Montgomery) would prohibit the use of Commonwealth funds to establish or maintain graduate education programs at state normal schools "as long as a shortage of teachers exists."

The bill would direct the Legislature to determine when the supply of teachers on the elementary and secondary levels is adequate in the state.

Vass You Dere?

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UP)—Magistrate Stuart Nordquist let "Charley" Frakes, 20, of Marion, Iowa, off with a reprimand for illegally wearing Army insignia. He added a $50 fine when he discovered "Charley" was really Miss Charlotte Frakes.

Some Traffic to Use Aliquippa Road Today

ALIQUIPPA, Pa. (UP) — Bus traffic was expected to resume by early Tuesday afternoon along Constitution Blvd. which had been closed since Friday night because of a giant landslide.

The State Highways Department said one lane along the clogged artery would be cleared for buses only. There was a possibility that other motor traffic could use the lane Wednesday.

All four tracks of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad were cleared of mud by Monday night. However, the fourth track will not be used for runs until repairs have been made to switching equipment. The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad has resumed using P & L E tracks.

Special equipment rented from private contractors enabled the State Highway department to speed up removal of tons of earth that oozed along a hillside bordering the boulevard.

The mammoth landslide began Friday at a point between Aliquippa and the Aliquippa-Ambridge bridge. The following morning a wall of mud 15 feet deep had inched 100 yards across the boulevard and the four railroad tracks.

H. H. McLean, vice president and general counsel of the P&LE, said the company would seek compensation for the expense of clearing tracks. He said either the state or a state-hired contractor, Nello B. Teer, of Durham, N. C. would be asked to pay.

P & L E President John W. Barriger had estimated the cost would be about $400,000.

McLean said that unless the claim is paid, the railroad would enter suit.

District Highway Engineer L.J. Curran said the department had no control over the contractor in the removal of earth from Constitution Blvd. during the widening project.

He said it was the responsibility of the contractor to remove the dirt to a safe place. However, he admitted the State Highways Department probably knew the earth had been dumped at the top of the hill.

Police Chief Charles Sorok charged the contractor filled in several ravines running along the hillside. He said earth from one of the ravines pushed down to the boulevard.

The Wrong Way

THE CITY COUNCIL of New Kensington recently adopted an ordinance the legality of which is now being tested in the courts. But legal or not, the ordinance is of a kind which has always been repugnant in this country, and we hope it always will be.

On the pretense that it was legislating against "littering" the streets, the New Kensington Council passed a law which forbids a newspaper to distribute sample copies except for four times each month.

The intent of this was obvious to everybody in the New Kensington area. It was meant to prevent an outside newspaper, the Valley Daily News of Tarentum, from effectively soliciting subscribers in New Kensington, the distribution of sample copies being a traditional method of soliciting new subscribers.

In adopting this ordinance, the New Kensington Council ignored the fact that it already had an effective anti-litter ordinance on its books. If its idea was to keep the streets free of waste paper, this ordinance was quite adequate and could have been enforced against anybody, including a newspaper, who was throwing paper on the streets.

But, of course, it would not have kept the Valley Daily News from soliciting subscribers in New Kensington. And that was the real objective.

We are more than a little disappointed by the fact that the New Kensington Daily Dispatch has been defending the action of the New Kensington council majority. It seems difficult to believe that in this day of enlightened journalism a newspaper could seriously think that the way to meet its competition would be to pass a law against it. That sort of thing, we had thought, went out of style a long time ago.

Our Post Office

THE LETTER which is printed in The Peoples Forum today is interesting for a couple of reasons.

For one, it helps to explain how Monessen's Post Office fell into such deplorable condition, a fact which was called to our readers' attention last December in this column.

For another, it provides a capsule illustration, right under our noses, of the frightful complexity of the federal government. To put it both mildly and tritely, the left hand simply did not know what the right hand was doing.

Multiply this little incident by the millions of opportunities which occur each day for similar lapses of the governmental machinery, and the wonder is, not that a post office doesn't get painted when it should, but that the government runs at all.

However this may be, we still think Postmaster Januszewski doesn't need to let the building fall down even though the General Services Administration, and not the Post Office Department, is supposed to keep it up. And if he can't make enough noise to be heard in Washington, we herewith repeat our offer to help him holler.

Censorship Is Out

SOME PEOPLE in Allegheny County, including a judge, have undertaken to do something to prevent the circulation of "obscene" literature which they say undermines the morals of young people.

So long as this effort avoids any coloration of legal censorship, it is commendable and deserves encouragement. But just how effective such an effort can be without censorship is problematical.

The rub always comes in this sort of enterprise when "obscenity" has to be defined, as it must be sooner or later. Parts of the Bible could properly be called obscene. Some passages in Shakespeare's plays could not be read aloud in most of our parlors. We all know of masterpieces of art which could, in some eyes, be considered quite obscene.

So who decides? And how? Some judge? The man so wise has not yet been born.

It is always going to be a problem in a free society to prevent some from abusing freedom without destroying it for all. But we must take our chances, especially where young minds are involved, with the devices of education and leadership and example. Censorship, in any of its applications, cannot be for us.

Congratulations to the people of the Fayette City area on acquiring banking facilities for the first time in 30 years. Fayette City businessmen worked long and hard to bring it about.

Ex-McCarthy Sleuth Has Been Fired

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Don Surine, famed McCarthy investigator in countless Communist hearings, has just been fired. He and his boss, the Senator from Wisconsin, have come to the parting of the ways.

Mr. Pearson

Surine, who sat beside McCarthy all during the Army - McCarthy hearings, came under fire at that time because of indiscretions with a white slave witness he had arrested as an FBI agent in Baltimore. Later he was fired by the FBI and senators claimed that he had misstated the facts when he said he had resigned.

Surine also got into the headlines when he took a trip to New York to collect erroneous information against Anna Rosenberg, Assistant Secretary of Defense. This resulted in a public retraction.

McCarthy, however, stuck by his chief investigator, despite demands from other senators that he can be relieved.

Now, however, Surine is out. Inquirers at McCarthy's office were told: "Mr. Surine is no longer connected with this office, and we have no idea where he can be located."

The Senate Rackets Committee has uncovered evidence that certain Teamsters officials are firing out of the union any teamsters who demand an accounting of union funds. Those expelled by the Teamsters Union have had a hard time finding other jobs. . . . Sen. Olin Johnston of South Carolina at first tried to discourage veterans' organizations from testifying against his alien property bill. Johnston wants to give property back to Germany and the veterans are opposed. When they insisted, however, Olin let them testify. . . . Ike is grumbling privately over his doctors' failure to stop his persistent cough. Originally, they told him it would be only a matter of a couple of weeks. Now they tell him he may not be able to get rid of the cough for some time. . . . GI's are irked at the fact that 40 U. S. enlisted men will be dressed in colonial costumes to serve as scenery at Virginia's Jamestown Festival, celebrating the 350th anniversary of the first permanent English colony in North America. Some Army men are wondering whether the Army has now gone in for playacting. Others would rather serve as scenery than wear out shoe leather on a drill field.

Senator Green's Lights

It's well known that Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island, oldest Senator in history, walks to work almost every day. It is not so well known that he's an expert on traffic lights.

Theodore Francis was discussing the problem of traffic lights the other day with his old friend Sumner Welles, former Undersecretary of State.

"Those green traffic lights were planned by people who sit in offices and don't know anything about them," complained the 89-year-old Senator. "I walk to the Capitol 2-½ miles every day and 2½ miles back, so I know something about traffic lights.

"They're geared for motorists, not for pedestrians. They don't stay red long enough to let a pedestrian cross the street.

"The other morning, for instance, I got to Third Street, which is rather wide, and I was three-quarters of the way across when the light switched. I managed to make it across the street without getting knocked over. But as I reached the intersection I found that a car was parked three-fourths of the way on the wrong side of the white line, where parking is supposed to be forbidden.

"A cop was standing there," continued Senator Green, "and I told him, 'That car is parked in a place where somebody's likely to get killed.'

"The policeman was quite impertinent. 'What's it to you?' he replied.

"I almost told him, 'I'm Senator Green and I'll report you.' But I didn't," continued Senator Green. "I thought to myself that he's so accustomed to seeing senators in limousines driving up to the Capitol he never would believe I was Senator Green and would take me off to the station house."

Capital News Capsules

GI Loans — The real estate lobby has started a quiet campaign on Capitol Hill to put GI housing under the Federal Housing Administration. This would make it easier to raise interest rates on GI home loans. The present four-and-one-half per cent rate offers so little profit for the bankers that they have openly threatened to cut off future GI loans. In fact, it's already next to impossible for veterans to get four-and-one-half per cent loans. The result has been a slowdown in low-cost home building.

From Washington—

Eisenhower's Influence Tested

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

A new struggle for the control of Republican party policy is rapidly taking shape in Washington today.

This struggle is and will continue to revolve around President Eisenhower's $72 billion budget. The reason this contest is developing between the right wing of the party and the Eisenhower Republicans is because the budget has become the symbol of both sides.

Mr. Drummond

For the more conservative Republicans radically cutting the President's budget has become a touchstone of their faith and a test of their influence in Congress and in the country.

For the Eisenhower to "modern" Republicans preserving the budget from being radically cut has become equally important not only as a test of their influence but because the budget in its purposes and scope represents "Modern Republicanism" in action.

The lines are being more sharply drawn than they have for a long time.

Ike Opposes Cuts

Since returning from Bermuda Mr. Eisenhower has used his press conference and his speeches to warn that any substantial reduction in the budget is a risk to security and to civilian programs approved by the people.

Senate Republican leader William Knowland of California, the custodian of the late Senator Taft's views and position, promptly countered with the declaration that some $3 billion should be cut from the budget.

There is a lot at stake in this struggle for power within the Republican party — whether the image of the party and its essential direction shall stem from the un-Eisenhower Republican leaders in Congress or from the President, who brought the party to national office after 20 years, and his supporters.

At stake is not only party policy today and tomorrow but very possibly the shape of the Republican presidential ticket in 1960.

The ability of Mr. Eisenhower to defend his budget against severe cuts will reveal more clearly than any other action whether his second-term influence is holding or deteriorating.

Fair Issue

This is a fair issue on which the test can rightly be made.

For right-wing conservatives of the Republican Party the President's budget represents an enlargement of the role of the federal government they deem undesirable, a strain on the economy which they find dangerous and in the field of aid to education they consider an encroachment of state functions which at all costs should be avoided.

For the Eisenhower Modern Republicans the President's budget is not desire for large spending per cent, but a recognition of the imperatives of the cold war, a determination to use conservative methods to meet social needs, not to neglect them, and a conviction that conservatives can hold the reins of government only by so doing.

It is an open question whether Mr. Eisenhower can win his battle over the budget with his own party or with congress or whether, in permitting his Secretary of the Treasury to set in motion the forces to cut it substantially, he made a fatal mistake and waited too long before bringing his own influence to bear.

His own conviction is that most of the cut — the-budget mail which some members of Congress are reporting is limited in scope and does not represent widespread public opinion.

Poll Results

On this point he has some support from a recent Gallup poll which asked a precise and pertinent question. It asked a cross-section of Republican voters which, if they had to choose between the foreign policies and spending policies of the right-wing of the party, led by "Hoover, Knowland, McCarthy and other followers of the late Senator Taft," or of the Modern Republicans, led by "Eisenhower, Dewey, Nixon and Lodge", they would prefer. The results were:

| | |
|---|---|
| Prefer "Modern Republicans | 74% |
| Prefer conservatives | 18% |
| Don't know | 8% |

If this finding is correct and if Democratic voters are less likely to support decreased spending than Republican voters, then Mr. Eisenhower has considerable support to draw on if he finds ways to draw on it effectively.

At the White House—

Hagerty Relaxes Rules

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UP) — Backstairs at the White House:

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty seems to be easing up a bit in his policy covering publicity about President Eisenhower's domestic and personal staff.

Not too long ago Hagerty was dead set against letting reporters have any access whatever to members of the staff. But recently he has approved interviews and magazine articles involving some of the lesser known White House personnel.

Robert Redmond, the White House Gardner, is a recent case in point. A year or so ago, Hagerty refused to let anyone interview Redmond, but the gardener has figured prominently in two magazine articles in recent weeks.

Early spring brings thousands of visitors to Washington — and a boom for sidewalk photographers in front of the White House.

These lensmen have a cute trick designed to save film.

They rarely make an actual exposure when they first snap a tourist, but instead click a pencil or coin against the side of the camera to simulate the sound of a shutter. If the tourist indicates an interest in buying a picture, the photographer suggest "shooting another one" with the White House in the background.

Another sign of spring is the heavy flow of college students who through their senators or congressmen, arrange audiences with key members of the White House staff.

Hagerty, for example, has been seeing two and three groups of college students daily. He makes a few advance remarks, then submits himself to questioning. Hagerty says the questions put by students frequently are tougher than those of professional reporters.

Most of the students are more interested in foreign policy than any other aspect of government. For the young men, this may reflect an underlying interest in the draft and how the world picture may affect their chances of going into service without completing their education.

If ever there was an example of safe and slow — and boring — auto travel it was the President's motorcade to Gettysburg last Friday.

The Montgomery County (Md.) police, who a week earlier had slowed reporters from 70 mph to the legal 55-mile limit, were not in very much evidence Friday.

Post Office Repairs Snarled in Red Tape

(Editor's Note—Last Dec. 19 The Daily Independent printed an editorial addressed to Uncle Sam which called attention to the shabby condition of the Monessen Post Office. The editorial started some wheels moving in Washington and a long-delayed contract for painting and repairs is now being completed. The writer of the following letter, who has considerable right to use the name, "Uncle Sam", tells how it happened.)

Dear Nephew:

I read your editorial in The Daily Independent, which you addressed to me personally, and was something more than startled because I thought I had your post office situation all taken care of.

I try to do the best job I know how in all matters, including the painting of all of my post offices, but somehow, if I don't keep constantly checking up, I find that things can get pretty well fouled up.

Frankly, Nephew, I thought I had painted the post office at Monessen and made everybody very happy a long time ago.

My top helper in postal matters, Art Summerfield, the Postmaster General, told me that the Monessen post office was in the process of being painted last year. He and I were both in full agreement that it was badly in need of repainting. We certainly agree with all you had to say on this subject. You can believe this or not, Nephew, but the Post Office Department does not paint post offices. That is probably the reason for the delay.

Handled by GSA

I am not altogether sure that I like the idea but it seems that a long time ago some of my helpers got together and decided that the maintenance of government buildings should be . . . including post offices . . . handled by one agency. So they gave the job to the General Services Administration.

This outfit buys almost everything for our government . . . except for items like cannons and battleships . . .and ranging from paper clips and pencils to wareshouses and buildings. So I got another assistant, in this case Franklin G. Floete, General Services Administrator, who is really a jack of all trades.

I have another helper who gets involved in things like painting post offices and he is my director of the Bureau of the Budget. He is more apt to keep post offices from being painted than he is to paint them, but in the case of the Monessen post office, he was a very reasonable fellow, evidently.

In any event, after I had talked to all my helpers, expressing my indignation at the fact that the Monessen post office had not been painted, here was what I found out:

How It Happened

The construction engineering section of the bureau of facilities, Post Office Department, brought to the attention of the General Services Administrator the need for repairs at your post office.

The General Services Administrator agreed and awarded a contract for the needed repairs, on July 16, 1956, at a contract price of $14,800.

In addition to exterior and interior painting the contractor also had the job of sidewalk, drive way, and mailing platform repairs, pointing the masonry, repairing the plaster and doing a great deal of replacement electrical work.

I thought it was all taken care of because the contractor was allowed 15 days to proceed and 90 days for completion.

Postmaster Summerfield thought it was all finished too.

So you can imagine my surprise when I read your editorial. The Postmaster and I checked with General Services Administration to find out what had gone wrong. My helper over there very apologetically advised me that the contractor got a late start but did finish the roof repair and the wiring. Then came the Christmas rush, with the weather turning cold, and one thing seems to have led to another so now the project is only about 40 per cent completed.

Near Completion

The General Services Administration now tells me that the job, outside painting and all, should be completed by the end of this April.

Nephew, this sort of thing baffles me as much as it does you and, in the meantime, I am just as indignant as you are about having a shabby looking building representing our government. I appreciate your editorial becuase it keeps reminding me that the bigger and more complex our government gets the more difficult it is to get things done . . . such as painting your post office.

Keep your eye on this project for me, please, and if the job isn't completed by the end of April please let me know and I will see to it that some of my helpers find out that in addition to reading your editorials I can also take the necessary disciplinary action.

Warmest personal regards from your

Uncle Sam

National Affairs—

Only Few Bills Passed By Congress So Far

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP)— The approach of Easter annually gives the signal for stock-taking on the record of Congress since the start of the year.

There is a widespread tendency each year to come up with the finding that Congress hasn't done much — and the record this year would not indicate that 1957 is different.

Mr. Lahr

To this conclusion, however, the perennial and probably justified retort is that Congress at work in the winter is Congress at work in committee. The trickle of bills out of committees becomes a flood in late spring and early summer.

Doctrine Gets Passage

As of March 31 only 12 bills had become law. But scores of others have emerged from committee and many have been passed by one of the two houses.

The most important act of Congress during the first three months was passage of the resolution asserting the Eisenhower Doctrine for resisting Communist aggression in the Middle East.

Other major bills passed were a 15-month extension of corporate income and excise tax rates, new lending authority for the Small Business Administration, and more authority for the government to buy up mortgages and free more private funds for home financing.

Otherwise, the House has passed five of the regular appropriation bills, none of which is yet off the assembly line in the Senate. The Senate has passed a $1,500,000,000 public works bill and a massive rewrite of federal banking laws—two bills which now await House action.

At this point, the atmosphere in Congress indicates that a great volume of legislation is not to be expected this year. It can be easily argued, however, that the record of a Congress cannot be measured in terms of the number of bills passed.

If Congress mirrors public opinion, the only effective public pressure on legislation this year is aimed at cutbacks in government spending. This situation alone can put a brake on measures — like President Eisenhower's school construction program—calling for new outlays of money.

Because the school segregation issue has become enmeshed in the school construction bill, passage of a civil rights bill has been viewed as a necessary preliminary to action on the school measure. Now school legislation must also survive the battle of the budget.

USW Manager Promises MVL Team

"As long as we're able to field nine players, we'll have a team in the Mon Valley Baseball League this season." So promises veteran manager Ralph Nicksich, of Monessen USW. There had been strong rumors that USW intended to give up its franchise this season since many of last year's standouts have scattered to other teams . . . A team of Uniontown High basketballers won the recent junior tournament at Sharon. Charley Davis, the brilliant Westminster College freshman, helped out in the Uniontown success . . . Rip Engle, Penn State football coach, will be at the helm of the Eastern All-Stars for the East-West Shrine game at San Francisco in 1957.

* * *

The Monessen Ozarks have apparently decided to sponsor a baseball team with no "ifs, and or butts." At any rate, the Ozarks have already lined up three exhibition foes: North Side of the Greater Pittsburgh League: Yukon of the Westmoreland League and Jacobs Creek of the Faye-West League . . . Monongahela High has toughened its exhibition basketball schedule for next season. The Cat hoopsters will meet Greensburg. Snowden, Uniontown, Homestead, Clairton and Hempfield Joint . . . Robert (Red) Worrell, the sensational schoolboy athlete at Centerville, was presented quite a gift from his wife the other day. A baby daughter!

Crazy Column Stirs Embarrassment

On April 1, Brownsville sports editor Bob Petriello authored a crazy "April Fool's column" in which he reported all sorts of whacky things. You can imagine Bob's surprise when a certain Pittsburgh newspaper recopied most of the items and mistakenly passed them off as genuine. Among other things, it was reported that Brownsville would play a football game in Philadelphia this season and that Umpire George Kuvinka had signed with the Class C Cotton State League. There were lots of other wild stories, too.

* * *

By the way the episode recalls a similar situation of some year's back when an April Fool's column on these pages reported that Rostraver's Jim Weir had resigned as football coach to accept a job in Hollywood as a "second" for William Bendix. The story was mistakenly copied by another county paper and Weir was swamped with congratulatory letters and telegrams . . . Since then, there has been NO April Fooling in the Daily Independent . . . Joe Alberta and Mike Turek will again serve as business managers for the Fayette City team in the Mon Valley Baseball League.

Bellmar Director Reports No Complaints

A Bellmar school director objects to our report that many letter-writers have taken the side of deposed basketball coach Jack Flora. The complaining director figures we're just trying to stir up trouble and reports that he hasn't received a "single complaint" over the coaching switch . . . Just for the record, we haven't commented either way on the Bellmar situation, contrary to our critic . . . The Mon Valley Baseball League will probably stagger its post-season playoffs this season so that fans may follow all of the title play. That's been a long-standing proposal by Monessen's number one sports schemer, Mike Lipnicky.

Yanks and Dodgers Have Top Rookies

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Them as has "grits" and so Tony Kubek of the New York Yankees and Rene Valdes of the Brooklyn Dodgers are the front-running pre-season favorites today to wind up with Rookie of the Year honors.

It actually has been a poor year for rookies hoping to crack the big league ice No more than seven of them are expected to be in the major league lineups on opening day.

The seven are Kubek, Valdes, White Sox outfielder Jim Landis, Kansas City second baseman Milt Graft, Giant shortstop Andre Rodgers, first baseman Ed Bouchee and outfielder Bob Bowman of the Phillies and possibly outfielder Bobby Gene Smith of the Cardinals.

Kubek Everybody's Choice

Kubek is everybody's choice as the Rookie of the Year At this early date, Valdes, a 22 - game winner with Portland last season, stands as his top rival. Eddie Joost and Lefty O'Doul both named him as the top Pacific Coast League graduate.

The Yankees are keeping three others who may make it big, namely infielders Bob Richardson and Woody Held and pitcher Al Cicotte

Brooklyn, too, expects much from southpaw Fred Kipp, a 20-game winner at Montreal, while catcher John Roseboro, stymied behind Roy Campanella and Rube Walker, probably will return to the minors for more seasoning If Campy fails, Roseboro will return via airmail.

Rodgers has been getting a lot of raves from the Giants but there is a needling question as to whether he will hit Staying up with him is Curt Barclay, a 15-game winner at Minneapolis.

Four Promising Phils

The Phillies, in addition to Bouchee and Bowman, are expecting hurling help from Don Cardwell and Seth Morehead. Pittsburgh looks to infielder John Powers while the Cards, in addition to Smith, count on pitchers Bob Mabe and Tom Cheney and second baseman Eddie Kasko.

Over in the American League, two fine catchers are standing disconsolately in line awaiting their chances. One is Haywood Sullivan of the Red Sox and the other is Earl Battey, up from Toronto to the White Sox.

Cleveland expects more pitching help from southpaw Bud Daley, 11-1 at Indianapolis, and Stan Pitula, who had a 15-4 mark with the same club. They're also looking hard at outfielder Roger Maris and infielder Larry Raines Washington's main rookie hope is pitcher Dick Hyde, who had a 15-6 year at Chattanooga

All in all, it's a rather slim rookie crop.

Pressure Mounts in Cage Series

By JOE PHELAN

BOSTON (UP)—An undercurrent of ill feeling and tenseness ran strong as the favored Boston Celtics prepared to meet the St. Louis Hawks Tuesday night in the fifth game of the National Basketball Association championship playoffs at the Garden.

The pressure mounted steadily and inter-team relations dwindled as the two clubs, all even after four games, battled to the climax of the best-of-seven series.

NBA President Maurice Podoloff indirectly supplied the Celtics with added incentive by hanging a $360 fine on Boston coach Red Auerbach. The assessment Monday was for "unbecoming conduct" before last Saturday's game in St. Louis when Auerbach punched St Louis owner Ben Kerner in the face after a hot argument.

Bitter Rivalry

The incident served to spotlight the bitter rivalry between the two divisional champions. It broke into the open Friday when coach Alex Hannum of the Hawks allegedly made some unkind remarks about Auerbach and charged that his Celtics were "hatchet men" out to cripple the Hawks' ace Bob Pettit

Boston, after falling back 2-1 in the title playoffs, drew even with a 123-118 victory at St. Louis Sunday night. That vital triumph made the Celtics a 2-1 choice to cop the league crown since they held the home court advantage in the event a seventh game was necessary.

A sixth game will have to be played at St Louis Thursday and if the two teams are still tied then, the decisive contest will be back here Saturday.

Scandal in 'Little Guys' Basketball, Too

HIGHWOOD, Ill. (UP) — The head of "Little Guys Basketball" reprimanded and tossed a Chicago team out of the association Tuesday for using "ringers" over five feet tall in last weekend's tournament.

Donald F. Schriner, "Little Guys" director, revoked the franchise of the Chicago National Athletic Club whose Little Guys finished third in the international tourney when a Chicago Heights, Ill., team refused to play them on the final night.

In addition to using two players who were at least a half-inch over the five-foot height limit, Schriner accused the Chicago National Athletic Club of:

—"Manhandling a youngster in full view of the crowd" because he had committed a foul.

—"Attempting each evening to have one of your smaller boys play sick, thus depriving the youngster of the opportunity to play the six minutes that is required of every player.

—"Continually harassing the official scorekeeper" by changing shirts or jerseys "so often that we are not certain yet" who got into the game and who didn't.

—Forcing down the shoulders of its own team members and "actions in attempting to force upward the shoulders of a member of a Puerto Rican team in order to make him appear taller."

Stubbs Has No Trouble With Fading Varona

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Welterweight Chico Varona of Cuba, with 100 bouts on his record, is ready to call it quits.

Varona was belted freely and knocked down a few times by Reybon Stubbs of Pittsburgh Monday night and his handlers took the advice of referee Buck McTiernan to throw in the towel after the third round.

Varona did not come out for the fourth and the fight, scheduled for 10 rounds, went into the books as a fourth round TKO victory for Stubbs.

"Me, oh my," the Cuban cried as he left the ring. "This was my last fight."

Varona, 151½, went down four times in the first round, but McTiernan ruled the first fall was a slip and the last came at the bell. Three knockdowns in one round call for an automatic TKO.

Stubbs, 151¾, battered the Cuban in the second and had him staggering around the ring in the third before dropping him for an eight count before the bell.

The preliminaries:

Johnny Morris, 161, Pittsburgh, decisioned Charley Glover, 160, Cincinnati, (6).

Ronnie Washensky, 175, Pittsburgh, won a split decision over Roosevelt Edmonds, 175, Aliquippa, Pa., (4).

Rony Cristy, 127, Pittsburgh, decisioned Willie Parker, 126, Pittsburgh, (6).

Gene Tippett, 148, McKeesport, Pa., TKO'd Arley Seifer, 154, Pittsburgh, (6).

Frank Williams, 195, Cincinnati decisioned Dick Blackson, 199, Aliquippa, Pa., (6).

Pitt Plans Intra Squad Game Sat.

The high spot of Pitt's spring football drills takes place this Saturday afternoon at the Pitt Stadium when Coach John Michelosen's gridders will participate in an intra-squad game.

Kick-off time is scheduled for 2.30, following a track meet between Navy and Pitt commencing at 12 30 with the field events.

As of last Saturday Pitt had held thirteen drills and under NCAA rules twenty is permitted. Coach Michelosen does not plan to conclude spring drills with Saturday's game. Tentative plans call for at least one more drill next week since bad weather has hampered the Pitt gridders during the entire spring session.

A few position changes have taken place the last few weeks Last week, Joe Pullekines was switched from tackle to end, a position he played in high school Dick Bowen, two year letterman, was moved from halfback to fullback the first day.

Sepsi Praised

Although coaches are hesitant about praising newcomers, Andy Sepsi, hard smashing back from Brownsville, has been impressive However, Jimmy Cox, highly touted back from Collingdale, has missed spring drills entirely because of a bad knee.

Other injuries have also plagued Michelosen's team during the drills. Regular halfbacks Dick Haley and Jim Theodore, who spent a few days in the hospital have been out most of the time Haley has been attending practice but has not participated in any contact work.

Tickets for the intra-squad football game and track meet are $1 00 Tickets will be sold only at Gate No. 3 beginning at 12.00 p m

Section 17 Schoolboy Nines Try Again Today

But Chilly Temperatures Expected To Wipe out Today's Activity, Too

Rain wiped out yesterday's Section 17 baseball action and chilly temperatures threatened to do the same today.

At Monessen High, athletic director Everett Pancook said he doubted if yesterday's postponed game with Bellmar could be played today.

"I don't see how Ninth Street Park will dry in time," said Pancook "Besides it's almost too cold for baseball."

If the game isn't played this afternoon — an it's almost a certainty it won't be — then it may be rescheduled for tomorrow at Ninth Street.

The inclement weather of recent weeks has forced postponement of every schoolboy game in the valley, including all exhibition action.

Other Games

Other games postponed yesterday are tentatively scheduled for this afternoon. Charleroi is to go to California and Monongahela to Donora.

No one expects any of the contests to be played, though.

Bellmar is slated to play host to California tomorrow, but that game may be moved back if today's Monessen encounter is called off

And so the current scholastic season is as confused as ever.

Two games are scheduled Thursday. Monessen is to appear at Monongahela and Donora at Charleroi.

Charleroi Has Lady Coach, Too

Monessen High is no longer the only WPIAL school with a feminine varsity coach. Charleroi has hired a lady coach, too!

Last week it was reported that Miss Antoniette Valentine will coach the Monessen High tennis team this season.

Last night, the school board in Charleroi elected Miss Lois Baker tennis coach.

It's Official; MHS to Play Ten AA Foes

Oct. 4 — at Hempfield: Oct 11 — Brownsville; Oct. 18 — Redstone, Oct. 25 — Johnstown.

Nov. 1 — at Charleroi; Nov 8 — Duquesne; Nov. 15 — at Donora.

Newcomers to the schedule are Windber, Hempfield, Johnstown and Duquesne. They replace Rostraver, Trinity, North Catholic and Greensburg.

Since all but one of the 1957

Game in 1958

Since all but one of the 1957 foes have been signed to a long-term contracts, the 1958 schedule will be just about the same

Next year's Junior Varsity card will show home games with McKeesport and Clairton, plus away tilts with Uniontown and Brownsville.

The Monessen Junior High boys will appear at Brownsville and Charleroi while meeting Donora, Monongahela and Canonsburg at home.

Public Favors Aid to Athletes

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Public opinion is overwhelmingly in favor of financial aid to student athletes, according to a nationwide survey conducted by Loyola University of Los Angeles.

Dr A D Aloia, associate professor of education and co-director of Loyola's guidance center, said that nearly 500 persons ranging from college presidents to the paying public responded to his questionnaire.

Aloia in a report on his findings Monday said out of 471 individuals sending in answers, 407 favored some type of aid to college athletes.

Open, direct aid was favored by 172, while 180 of the group responding indicated support should be according to financial need as determined by the university or college involved.

Almost all of the persons polled agreed that football players should not be the sole group to receive aid but that it should go to all athletes on the basis of need, Aloia said

Fisherman's Paradise Will Open May 17

The Pennsylvania Fish Commission today set Friday, May 17, as the opening day of the 1957 season on the famed Fisherman's Paradise on Spring Creek, near Bellefonte in Centre County.

The season will close on July 20

The commission also issued a list of regulations for guidance of fishermen along the favorite trout stream.

At the same time Executive Director William Voight, Jr. said no harmful effects will be noted at the Paradise as a result of widespread pollution last November from the U. S. Navy Research Laboratory on the Pennsylvania State University campus.

Voight said that while the fish kill was heavy in the stream above Paradise and in two ponds of the commission's hatchery plants fed by Spring Creek, the pollution was sufficiently diffused by the time it reached the Paradise that no harm was done to the big trout there

The fishing season in other streams of the state opens on Monday April 15 and extends through Sept 2

Carl Crawley, all-around senior athlete at Monessen High, was named today to the "official" Section 5 basketball team.

Other first team members included Grover Ferguson, of Brownsville; Ollie Payne and Bob Boda, of Charleroi, and Dave Russell of Donora.

Payne and Russell were the only unanimous choices.

Crawley, who stands 6-0, was also named to the All Big Six football team. Thus he is the only valley athlete to win that dual honor this school year.

As usual, the Section 5 team was picked by the seven valley coaches. They cast ballots on an all-opponent basis.

Mathieu and Crisi

Monessen also placed two boys on the honorable mention list. Maurice Mathieu and Frank Crisi.

Bellmar's John Hewitt won a second team spot. Two other Canes were honorable mention choices: Jim Bitonti and Bill Schmidt.

Ex Pirates on National Loop Umpiring Staff

CINCINNATI (UP) — Veteran Umpire Larry Goetz was given a sick leave by the National League Tuesday and the league also announced the addition of former catchers Bill Baker and Vinnie Smith to the umpiring staff.

The 57-year-old Goetz, an NL umpire since 1936, has not umpired any exhibition games this spring because of a nervous condition and has been advised by his doctor to take an extended rest from baseball.

Baker, who officiated last year in the American Assn., and Smith from the staff of the Pacific Coast League, both have been umpiring major - league exhibitions this spring on a trial basis. Their addition brings the N.L. umpiring staff to 16 men

Baker, from Paw Creek, N. C., was a catcher for Cincinnati in 1940 and '41. Pittsburgh from 1941 through 1946, and St. Louis in 1948 and '49

Smith, of Richmond, Va., was a catcher with Pittsburgh in 1941 and 1946 He began umpiring in the California League in 1954 and switched to the Pacific Coast League in 1955 and '56.

Cartier Quits Ring Following Loss to Labua

NEW YORK (UP) — Convinced that acting is a lot easier than fighting, middleweight Walter Cartier retired from the ring again Tuesday while his conqueror, Jackie Labua, considered offers from two foreign promoters.

Labua, of East Meadow, N. Y., ruined Cartier's comeback attempt by scoring an upset third-round technical knockout over the veteran, curly - haired New Yorker Monday night in their widely-televised bout at St. Nicholas Arena.

Cartier has been a member of the Phil Silvers' (Sgt. Bilko) TV show for the past two years, and now that he feels "I just can't fight a little bit any more," he plans to follow his acting career.

Cartier, who weighed 159½ pounds to Labua's 157, battled his young Long Island opponent on even terms until midway in the third round Then Labua, an 8-5 underdog, sliced Cartier's right brow with what appeared to be a left hook and a follow-up head butt

Although blood gushed down his face and onto his trunks, Cartier survived the round. But Dr. Alexander Schiff got only one look at the three - pronged wound between rounds and ordered a halt to the fight

Dupas Upsets Martinez In Bruising 10 Rounder

NEW ORLEANS (UP) — Ralph Dupas, New Orleans lightweight, says he won Monday night's bloody and bruising 10 - rounder over welterweight Vince Martinez of Paterson, N. J., to show appreciation to his hometown supporters

Dupas, who upset Martinez in a decision bout, fought viciously and led an attack that Martinez couldn't stop with his slashing left jabs.

The little whirlwind, weighing 141¼ pounds at fight time, lost the nickname "Native Dancer," as he carried the fight to the 146½ pound Jersey fighter. "I won this one for the hometown," Dupas said.

Dupas said he was deeply touched when public sentiment apparently rallied around him last week when he successfully fought charges that he was a Negro and ineligible to box whites in Louisiana.

A section of the state Health Department asked the state Boxing Commission to invoke a 1956 law against Dupas after Dupas' racial background was challenged. The law prohibits mixed athletic contests

But after hearings held a week ago, the commission okayed Monday night's fight and refused to validate the racial charges.

The fight in wind-swept Pelican Stadium was delayed briefly at the beginning when Dupas kneeled in the ring to receive a blessing from a Roman Catholic priest standing near the press table

Martinez' trainer, Whitey Bimstein, thought the decision was a "hometown decision"

The Jersey fighter said he thought he won seven rounds Dupas said he felt he outboxed Martinez in at least six rounds.

The fight was scored 5-4-1, 4-4-2 and 6-3-1, Dupas.

Yanks Trim Three Players

JACKSONVILLE, Fla (UP) — Casey Stengel cleared the decks for action Tuesday by paring three players from his squad and then promptly predicted his Yankees will win the pennant again "even though it won't be easy"

The players cut from the squad were pitcher Jim Depalo, catcher John Blanchard and outfielder Norm Siebern All were sent to Denver of the American Assn.

Before the Yankees left their St Petersburg, Fla., training site Monday night, outfielder Tony Kubek was named the team's outstanding rookie of the spring.

In his final press conference before starting north, Stengel said "I should win the pennant. My pitching is better than ever, but I still don't figure to win as easy as most people think"

Behind the Yankees, Stengel picked Cleveland, Chicago and Detroit in that order.

Milwaukee Sets Pace During Exhibition Training Season

By MILTON RICHMAN

Milwaukee is out in front for the Grapefruit Circuit championship, a title that's just a lot of fruit juice to manager Fred Haney, who would rather see his men save something for September.

The Braves couldn't beat Brooklyn last fall when it really counted, but they clinched their spring series with the Dodgers by defeating them, 8-5, at Oklahoma City, Okla., Monday.

The Braves now have taken six out of eight games from Brooklyn this spring and they lead all major league clubs with an exhibition record of 18 victories and eight defeats.

Five In First

The Braves hopped on Dodger starter Roger Craig for five runs in the first inning and then clinched the contest with three more off southpaw Ken Lehman in the fifth Ray Crone started for the Braves, allowed two runs on six hits in six and one-third innings and then gave way to Bob Trowbridge.

Left - hander Jack Harshman gave White Sox manager Al Lopez something to smile about when he hurled seven scoreless innings in a 3-0 victory over the Cardinals at Charlotte, N C.

Veteran Dixie Howell held St. Louis in check over the last two frames Rookie Jim Landis of the White Sox homered off loser Herman Wehmeier

Burly Bob Nieman hasn't been hitting particularly well this spring, but he snapped out of it in Dallas, Tex., to drive in five runs and lead the Orioles to a 6-4 decision over the Cubs. Nieman hit a homer with two on, a single and two sacrifice flies.

Purkey "Gopher" Victim

The Red Sox snapped a seven-game losing streak with an 8-7 triumph over the Pirates in 10 innings at Fort Myers, Fla. Milt Bolling's homer off Bob Purkey in the 10th decided the game. Jackie Jensen and Jim Piersall also homered for Boston while Danny Kravitz connected for Pittsburgh.

Willie Jones' two-run homer off Jack Crimian in the seventh inning powered the Phillies to a 6-5 decision over the Tigers at Clearwater, Fla. Ed Bouchee also homered for the Phils.

Rookie pitcher Curt Barclay and outfielder Dusty Rhodes combined to lead the Giants to a 3-1 victory over the Indians in a game that was halted by a thunderstorm after five and one-half innings. Barclay limited the Indians to three hits, including a homer by Bobby Avila, while Rhodes' two - run homer off Bob Lemon in the fourth was the decisive blow.

High winds caused the postponement of a scheduled game between Cincinnati and Washington at Memphis, Tenn.

Dickey Ordered To Take Rest

TARPON SPRINGS, Fla. (UP)—Yankee Coach Bill Dickey was pronounced "nearly recovered" Tuesday from physical exhaustion which caused his removal to a hospital

Dickey was moved to a nursing home here from St. Anthony's Hospital in St. Petersburg. Doctors felt he could rest better here.

Yankee Manager Casey Stengel said he did not intend to name another coach in Dickey's absence.

Picket Line To Face Bucs In Opener Tues.

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates face a picket line reception at their Forbes Field season opener next Tuesday if a jurisdictional union dispute is not settled by then

Members of the AFL-CIO Painters Union started picketing the ball park this week to protest the assignment of seat painting work to an independent union, the Forbes Field Protective Assn.

Other AFL-CIO painters, employed by a private contracting firm to paint the scoreboard and radio-television booth, refused to cross the picket line.

Club officials feared a picket line on opening day may keep away union musicians and members of the Bottlers and Soft Drink Dispensers Union who sell pop, hot dogs and peanuts.

The club officials said they would meet with representatives of the AFL-CIO Painters Union in an effort to settle the dispute.

Kusava Earns Job with Pirates

FORT MYERS, Fla (UP) — Southpaw Bob Kuzava has pitched himself right on to the Pittsburgh Pirates' roster.

Kuzava was on a "look" basis with the Pirates this spring, but he hurled so well that he was officially signed to a Pittsburgh contract Monday.

Previously with the Indians, White Sox, Yankees and Orioles, the 34-year-old left - hander had a 10-8 record with Columbus of the International League last season.

While signing Kuzava, the Pirates also optioned pitcher Gonzalo Naranjo and catcher Harding Peterson to Columbus. Pittsburgh bought left - handed pitcher Don Kildoo from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League and then optioned him to the same club along with pitcher Laurin Pepper.

Sportsmen's Corner—

Here Are New Fly Fishing Regulations

Last week, the Pennsylvania Fish Commission approved "fly fishing only" on stretches of 15 state streams under a uniform set of regulations.

These new regulations will become effective with the opening of the 1957 trout season at 5 a. m., next Monday

According to William Voigt, Jr., executive director of the Fish Commission, the fly-fishing areas were set aside on request of sportsmen's groups and property owners. He said that the commission will entertain similar requests for other streams if submitted through sportsmen's groups or fish wardens.

Specifically here are the new regulations which will be clearly posted on the streams affected:

Fish Regulations

1. Fishing may be done only with artificial flies and streamers. Weight or sinkers up to the equivalent of 2 BB shot may be built into the fly or affixed to the leader Lures commonly described as spinners, spoons or plugs made of metal, wood, plastic or rubber, singly or in combination, will be prohibited

2 Fishing may be done only with conventional fly fishing tackle.

. The possession of bait fish or fish bait will be prohibited.

4 Fishing hours — 5 a. m. to 9 p. m., EST.

5 Minimum size — 9 inches.

6 Daily creel limit — 6 trout (combined species).

In our immediate district, just one trout stream will be affected by the new regulation: Dunbar Creek The fly-fishing area will extend some eight miles from the stone quary to the headwaters, including tributaries which formerly were nursery waters.

Wild Cats—

Cats were the subject of reports received recently from three Game Protectors in southcentral Pennsylvania.

Said Edward Campbell, Franklin County: "In the past month a couple who have a mountain cabin thought they had a wildcat as a nightly visitor. When they showed me the animal's tracks in the snow, I knew what their 'wildcat' really was. The next morning a trap I had set held a big tom housecat, which had evidently gone wild and lived in the mountain".

John Spahr, Adams County: "During the recent muskrat season, a man kept finding badly torn up muskrats in his traps. The culprit ate only the heart and liver of its victims. The trapper finally caught the animal that caused the loss — an Angora cat weighing 12 pounds. It had the largest teeth I have seen on a domestic cat".

Roland Turley, Blair County: "A deputy's wife reported that in driving home from church at Claysburg, she saw a raccoon mauling something on the road ahead. When the car drew close, the raccoon took to the brush, and a large housecat ran down through the field".

Fire Danger—

The menace of spring fires is again with us.

Fire companies in our area have already been called to extinguish numerous grass fires. Though the dangers of these rampant, wind-fanned flames have often been stressed, wildlife conservationists see greater danger than the destruction of valuable timber, injury to soil, and possible loss of life or property.

Young rabbits will perish and the eggs or young of ground-nesting birds will be destroyed in such fires which also account for the loss of natural food and protective covering — a very important factor in determining game populations.

For everybody who has a stake in wildlife and hunting, the old slogan "Everybody Loses when Timber Burns" still applies.

Hare Benefit—

Game Protector Theodore Schafer, writes: "Last month, snowshoe rabbits moved in on a timber cutting job on State Game Lands No. 159, Wayne County, to take advantage of the additional food and cover which the operation furnished. Deer also found browse available and plentiful only where the timbering was done. In other places the deer fed on hemlock as high as they could reach, and dug through snow to uncover ferns to feed upon".

Pennsylvania Farm—

Potato Plantings Are Facing Big Cut Back

By UNITED PRESS

Potato stocks on hand in Pennsylvania are the lowest in seven years and potato growers have indicated they will cut back their plantings by two per cent.

If these intentions are fulfilled, it will be the smallest planted acreage on record.

A state Department of Agriculture survey indicates that potato holdings as of March 1, when the survey was made, were 1,100,000 hundredweight or about one-half of the amount on hand the same time last year.

In 1956 the survey shows farmers planted 52,000 acres of potatoes, but intentions for this year call for a two per cent acreage decrease of about 1,000 acres. The average planted acreage for the 10-year period of 1946-55 is 83,000 acres.

Tobacco

Tobacco plantings are expected to remain the same as last year with the planting of 30,000 acres. This is 2,420 acres below the 10 year average.

Milk Prices Dip

A seasonal decline in wholesale milk prices coupled with a drop in calf prices more than offset the small advance of prices in other meat animals during the month ended March 15.

The result was a six point drop in index prices during the month. In February, index prices made a three-point decline following a five-point drop in January. The state Department of Agriculture reports index prices have dropped 14 points since mid-December.

The Pennsylvania index presently reads 236 per cent of the 1910-14 base level. The parity index was at 80 on March 15.

Statewide average prices for wholesale milk received by dairy farmers was $4.90 per hundred pounds which was 15 cents lower than February but 50 cents higher than one year ago.

The department says farmers averaged $20.30 a hundred pounds liveweight for calves on March 15. This was a $2 decrease from February prices but $1.16 more than prices of March, 1956. The department says the decline in calve prices was the leading cause for the decline in the price index. All other meat animals increased in price, with lambs making the greatest advance.

Civil Rights Bill Date Is Delayed

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House Rules Committee refused today by a vote of 6-4 to set a date for a hearing on the administration's civil rights bill.

Rep. Richard Bolling (D-Mo) said the action means the bill can't be cleared to the House floor until after a 10-day Easter recess that starts April 18.

Papers Showed No Favorites

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP)—A study by the Pennsylvania State University School of Journalism released today showed that the state's daily newspapers played no favorites in their coverage of the 1956 presidential campaign.

Drs. James W. Markham and Guido H. Stempel III, faculty members, analyzed samples of 24 dailies and concluded that both major parties had advantages. The Republicans got more space, and better headline display but the Democrats got better coverage of campaign issues.

The professors said there was no evidence to show that newspapers gave preferred treatment to candidates they supported. The basic measures used in the analysis were amount of space, frequency of campaign issues mentioned and headline display.

There was also no significant difference noted in the news treatment of both major parties by the five newspapers which supported neither candidate on one hand and the two Stevenson plus 17 Eisenhower papers on the other.

The Republicans drew 55 per cent of the headlines but 51 per cent of the references to campaign issues were Democratic. The most one-sided aspect of the study was pictures which were two-to-one Republican.

The study made during the last five weeks of the campaign was reported in the current issue of Quill, a magazine published by Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity.

Salary Boosts For Engineers Due Thursday

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Highways Department will give salary increases ranging from $156 to $1,080 annually for 1,500 engineers and engineering technicians in the department.

The increases will be reflected in salary checks to be distributed April 11.

At the same time, Gov. George M Leader disclosed that civil service status will be given 1,342 Highways Department positions, most of them technical and professional personnel. Included are highway and bridge designers, engineering assistants and construction inspectors.

The pay hikes and expansion of the civil service system are in line with the administration's goal to give adequate pay and job protection to professional and technical personnel.

Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler said he is also seeking executive board approval for salary increases averaging $200 for 500 other professional employes. If the request is approved, the department's salary increase program will cost about $750,000 annually.

Mrs. Doris Lazzari Barruso was appointed general chairman. Dolores Holder will be in charge of the address committee and Shirley Frazier Sementuh will have charge of prizes.

Tentative plans call for an early July date, however, this will not be definitely decided until another meeting of all interested classmates is held. The site will be selected at that time.

Class President Henry Studnicki and Carolyn Kramer Manown were in charge of the initial planning session.

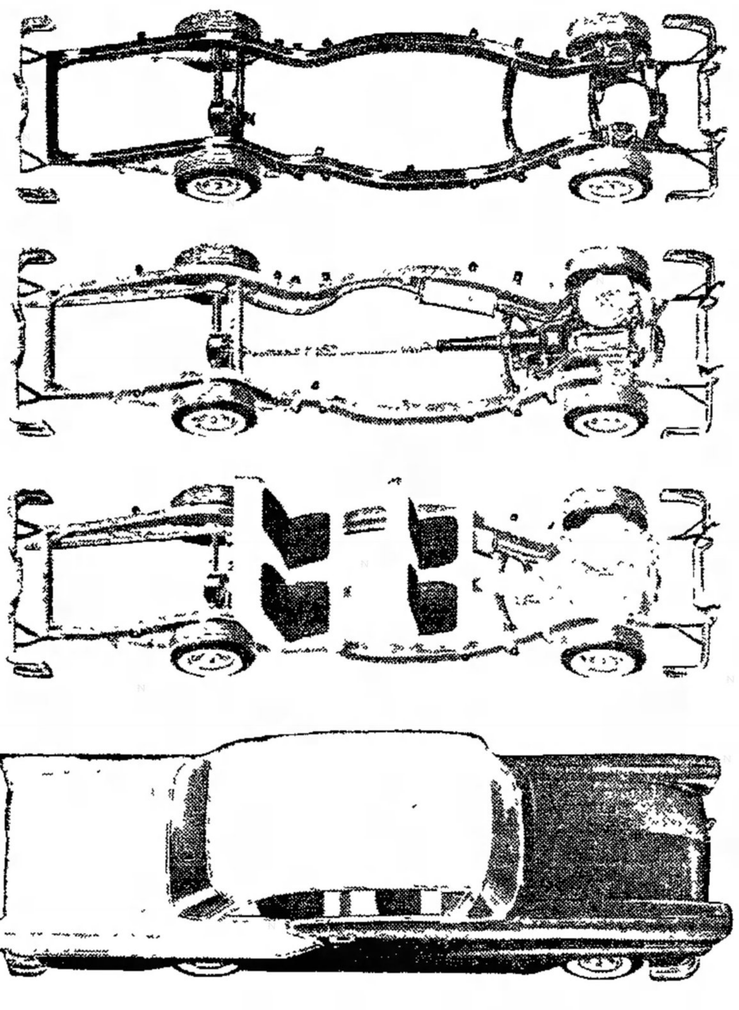
Here's what makes it a new kind of Ford



The frame is wider

(The widest and strongest in any low-priced car)

On even the roughest roads, you'll discover "the carpet is out." Partly, it's because the frame is sturdier. Partly, it's the way front and rear suspensions take tilt out of turns. Mostly, it's because there's a whole new smoother-riding, quieter-going "Inner Ford."

The power is bigger

(Most power in Ford's 25 years of V-8 leadership)

And what a V-8 engine! You can have the kind of Thunderbird power that smashed records at Daytona ... set a new stock car mark at Indianapolis ... traveled 50,000 miles in just 20 days at Bonneville, Utah!

The comfort is greater

(Lets you ride sweet and low)

You sit in the lap of luxury. There's head room, hip room, leg room galore. And wait till you get a load of those new upholsteries and color schemes!

The body is "beefier"

(Up to 9 inches longer, 4 inches lower, with full head room, full road clearance)

From top to floor, front to rear, this body is built like a "battleship." You ride surrounded by new strength.

...and best of all it's the lowest priced of the low-price three!

Memorials

In loving memory of our dear wife mother and grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Sofilkanich, who was called to her eternal reward three years ago on April 9, 1954.
You are not forgotten loved one,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory lasts,
We will remember thee
We miss you now, our hearts are still sore,
As time goes on we miss you more
Your cheerful voice, your welcomed face,
No one can fill your vacant place
Dear God — please take Peace to ease
To our dear "Loved One" above
And tell her how much we miss her
And give her all our love
Sadly missed by her Husband Children and Grandson

The April meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Perryopolis, which was held recently in the Perryopolis Methodist Church, was opened by Verna Bindus, president.

A turkey dinner was served with appointments in a Springtime motif. Members of the Good Will Bible Class of the church were hostesses.

A business session, which featured committee reports and the treasurer's report by Mary Duff, followed the dinner. The theme for the May program will be "Health," and Garnet Taylor will be program chairman.

Guest speaker for the evening was Pauline Craig, music supervisor for the Uniontown School District.

Miss Craig supplemented her talk with slides of the Holy Land, where she traveled during the summer of 1955, while attending a world meeting of teachers in Istanbul.

Forty one members attended.

Sid Caesar to Lose Saturday Night Spot

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — The channel swim. . .

Sid Caesar seems to have lost his Saturday night spot on NBC-TV for next fall. The tentative NBC-TV schedule for next season lists "Panic" and the new Gisele Mackenzie series in Caesar's slot.

"Arthur Murray Party", presently assigned to a Tuesday spot on NBC-TV, will take over Caesar's hour for the summer.

CBS-TV has decided to launch its new Gary Cooper Western series on Jan. 1—it'll step into the Wednesday night period presently held by the "20th Century-Fox Hour."

ABC-TV is whipping up a new sports series, "Championship Golf," which will be beamed from Chicago on Saturday afternoons. It'll feature such stars as Sammy Snead and Porky Oliver in filmed matches.

Junior Senator Sought

"Mike Wallace Interviews," which kicks off on ABC-TV April 28, is trying to land Sen. Joseph McCarthy as its first guest. . .the Frank Blaires (he's on NBC-TV's "Today") are expecting their eighth child this month.

The A. C. Nielsen Co., which takes TV surveys, reports that the average TV family watched 14,560 commercials last year. . . Producer Max Liebman has taken off on a two-month jaunt around the world.

Jack Barry, who already has "Twenty One" in a prime night-time spot, gets another choice evening location for his "Tic Tac Dough" in the fall—NBC-TV plans to unveil it in a night slot on Sept. 12.

Peter Donald is shaping up as the male moderator for the soon-to-be-revived "Leave It To The Girls". . .Martha Rave is planning to return to NBC-TV in a new "Baby Snooks" series.

To Be Engaged

Marjorie Lord, the new girlfriend on ABC-TV's "Danny Thomas" show, will get engaged to Danny on the April 25 opus. The program will shift to CBS-TV next fall.

Robert Storm, the 10-year-old phenomoppet of "The $64,000 Question," has a pinball machine in his room at home. He can't be beaten on it — he has it fixed.

Lawyer Joseph Welch, who usually confines his TV efforts to "Omnibus," will appear as guest panelist on CBS-TV's "The Last Word" on April 28 . . . ABC-TV is eyeing a series, "Casey Jones," which stars Alan Hale, Jr.

All 18 of the diamond stars that'll appear on NBC-TV's "Salute To Baseball" will receive color TV sets—they'll donate the 18 sets to hospitals around the country . . . "Martha Rountree's Press Conference" will be shifted to ABC-TV on April 29 to the Monday night spot opposite CBS-TV's "I Love Lucy."

And this definition of a "pessimist" from Pat Buttram of CBS: "He's a fellow," says Pat, "who builds dungeons in the air."

Perry Mason to Replace Gleason

NEW YORK (UP)—CBS-TV announced today that a new Perry Mason mystery series will replace the Jackie Gleason Hour in the fall.

A CBS spokesman said Gleason would not return to the network in a regular scheduled series next season, but would probably be used in occasional special shows."

The filmed Perry Mason series will begin "sometime in late September or early October," the spokesman said.

Gleason had indicated earlier this season that the pressures of a weekly show might lead to his abandoning his regular Saturday program. For the past two seasons, Gleason, once a top runner in the CBS-TV stable, has been taking a rapping in the ratings from NBC-TV's Perry Como.

During Month of April Watch Out for Colds

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

While March traditionally is the month for fevers, April is the month for colds. Americans will suffer an estimated 100,000,000 colds before the end of the month when the cold season finally slackens.

Yet, with all the cold victims around us — nine out of ten persons have at least one cold during the winter months — we still don't know exactly what causes them.

Generally, it's believed that colds are caused by viruses which attack your body when your resistance has been lowered by cold weather or some other condition.

For a while we had hopes of perfecting a vaccine which would knock out a cold. You know, something similar to the Salk antipolio vaccine. But it doesn't appear feasible now.

A cold itself provides only brief immunity from future colds. A vaccine could not be expected to do much better.

Besides, colds probably are caused by a large number of different viruses, not just one specific kind. Therefore, to be really effective, a vaccine would have to provide immunity from all of them. This seems to be virtually impossible.

Some doctors say the recently introduced bioflavonoids — I've discussed these previously — appear to offer some help in fighting off colds. In some cases, they have reportedly brought relief.

Still, it looks like the aches and pains, the runny noses and the sneezes of the common cold will be around for a long time.

IT'S THE 'BUDDY SYSTEM!' — Two saber sabres demonstrate the "buddy system" of mid-air refueling in this panorama of Palmdale, Calif., scenery. The "buddy system" enables the F-100 to carry a heavier bomb load and makes possible the emergency refueling of planes returning low on fuel.

Air Safety—

Congestion of Airways Is Big Factor in Better Air Safety

By ROBERT J. SERLING

WASHINGTON (UP) — The aviation industry and the federal government are engaged in a massive assault on the air safety problems resulting from growing congestion of the airways.

It is a grim race between fast-expanding air traffic and development of new methods to control that traffic safely.

The goal is two-fold:

—To plug some of the bigger loopholes in the present air traffic control system, which is two decades behind the times.

—To establish a brand-new control system that will handle not only current traffic, but also will be adequate for the age of jet transporiation — less than two years away.

The first goal appears to be more difficult than the second. A commercial airliner takes off or lands in the United States every five seconds. The job of protecting that kind of traffic volume with makeshift, stopgap methods is tougher than long-range planning for airways of the future.

The loophole - plugging action consists mainly of a 46 million dollar program for partial modernization of the air traffic control system.

Directed By CAA

It is under the direction of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, which already has compressed it from an original five-year project to three years. In addition, CAA has asked Congress for money, including 132 million dollars for a radar navigation and communications system called "Vortac."

With its initial 246 million dollar authorization, CAA is buying:

—Surveillance radar to speed up approaches and landings at 70 airports. (40 now have such equipment.)

—Precision approach radar and instrument landing systems for 191 airports.

—Surface radar detectors for 70 airports — equipment which enables control towers to monitor and speed up ground traffic.

—New approach lights and improved runway lighting for more than 200 airports.

Even this emergency program, however, is too far in the future to handle traffic of today, next week or even six months from now. And under the prodding of the airlines, the military and the pilots union, CAA is now taking a look at its own operations to see if it can utilize more efficiently the procedures and equipment it already has.

LaGuardia Airport Studied

Recently, a special committee composed or representatives from the airlines, armed forces, CAB, CAA and the Airline Pilots Association (ALPA) studied air traffic control operations at LaGuardia Airport in New York City.

The group found that in one 30-day period, scheduled flights in and out of LaGuardia were delayed a total of 850 hours.

The committee recommended certain procedural changes and personnel instruction. In the next 30 days, under almost identical weather and traffic conditions, delays at LaGuardia were cut to 230 hours.

"This shows what can be done with existing techniques and equipment," an ALPA official told the United Press. "The biggest bottleneck to safe movement of air traffic is located at the airports themselves."

Even such steps as led to the LaGuardia improvement are admittedly stopgap, however. So are proposals by ALPA to revise many air traffic regulations in order to reduce drastically the number of flights in which pilots are told to fly under "visual flight rules" and take the entire responsibility for avoiding other traffic. Under "instrument flight rules," air traffic control centers assume the responsibility of keeping flights safely separated.

Next: Are modern planes built safely: Why do new planes develop mysterious "bugs?"

Would Permit Ex-State Cops Detective Licenses

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Legislature has sent to Gov. George M. Leader a bill which would make former Pennsylvania state policemen eligible to apply for licenses as private detectives.

The House bill, sponsored by Republican Reps. William G. Piper, LeRoy A. Weidner, both of Berks County; Baker Royer (Lancaster) and Reginald P. Stimmel (Lehigh) would permit former state policemen to apply for licenses along with former federal investigators, sheriffs and city police officers above the rank of patrolmen.

Another bill, approved by the Senate and sent to the House Tuesday, would provide a $1,000 fine and-or imprisonment of up to one year for violations of the private detectives law.

State Highway Safety Group Being Proposed

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation to create a permanent Highway Safety Committee to report on means of reducing accidents has been received in the General Assembly.

A House bill, sponsored by Republican Reps. Joseph A. Ide and Russel S. Moyer, both Northampton County, and LeRoy A. Weidner (Berks) would form a six-member legislative committee with a $25,000 appropriation to finance their study.

The committee would investigate any reportedly dangerous highway condition and report back to the state Highways Department and the governor with recommendations for alleviating the dangers. The committee would be a continuing body, reporting every Assembly session.
